

Using similarity group and personal history as daily performance reference

Customizing daily goals with personal status

Recommending activities based on behavior pattern and routine

Making a weekly plan through analysis of similarity group and personal history